Velkommen to the Scandinavian Program!

SCAN 333: Major Works in Scandinavian Literature (English)

Acknowledgement

UBC’s Point Grey Campus is located on the traditional, ancestral, and unceded territory of the xwməθkwəy̓əm (Musqueam) people. The land upon which it is situated has always been a place of learning for the Musqueam people, who for millennia have passed on their culture, history, and traditions from one generation to the next on this site.

Danish

UBCs Point Grey Campus er placeret på Musqueam-folkets nedarvede, traditionsrige og ikke retsmæssigt afståede territorie. Området, hvorpå det er placeret, har altdi fungeret som et rum for læring for Musqueam-folket, som i årtusinder har videregivet deres historie, kultur og traditioner fra én generation til den næste på dette sted.

PANDEMIC UPDATES
Due to the pandemic, expect updates from UBC regarding changed regulations etc. Here are two good places to start:
https://students.ubc.ca/campus-life/returning-to-campus and
https://covid19.ubc.ca/latest-updates/

We will all have to be flexible since we might need to make changes to the schedule or course format.

COVID-19 Safety
You are currently required to wear a non-medical mask during our class meetings, for your own protection and the safety and comfort of everyone else in the class. For our in-person meetings, it is important that all of us feel as comfortable as possible engaging in class activities while sharing an indoor space. Non-medical masks that cover our noses and mouths are a primary tool for combating the spread of COVID-19. Further, according to the provincial mandate, masks are required in all indoor public spaces including lobbies, hallways, stairwells, elevators, classrooms and labs. There may be students who have medical accommodations for not wearing a mask. Please maintain a respectful environment.

DISCLAIMER
The material in this course includes content that might be offensive and upsetting to some readers, such as strong language, reference to and consumption of alcohol and drugs, violence, graphic and sexual imagery. Some also deal with sensitive issues, such as suicide, death, racism, and sexual abuse.

COURSE STRUCTURE AND ACTIVITIES
The aim of this course is to introduce you to Major Works in Scandinavian literature and to teach you about the shared, but varied culture of the Nordic countries through some of the most praised literary accomplishments of the area. We will be exploring each major work through different lenses such as autobiographic reading, historiography, genre and setting/place/environment to name a few in our effort to understand each work in proper context to itself and its time, Scandinavia as an area and the world outside.
LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Upon successful completion of this course (i.e. with active attendance and participation, completion of reading and writing assignments, and exams) students will be individually and cooperatively able to:

- Describe cultural tendencies in Scandinavian literature and culture production from the 19th century to today, and asses their impact on cultural and intellectual life.
- Define important concepts and identify historical and cultural contexts surrounding their emergence and development.
- Recognize aspects of belonging and ‘otherness’, social standing and Scandinavian social politics in the periods and cultural products discussed.
- Analyse texts in context (i.e. to genre, topic, media etc.) and compare their content and cultural contexts with other cultural products.
- Respond concisely to thematic questions in clear and concise form.

ASSESSMENT

COURSE STRUCTURE (subject to change)

We will be analysing and discussing 6 major works throughout the semester. Each work, either poetry, fiction or children’s literature, will be explored over the course of one or two classes through different methods of reading and also compared to other relevant works either within the authorship (i.e. H.C. Andersen’s fairy tales), setting and theme (such as nature) or topic where suitable.
Each module will be concluded with a group presentation and a connected class discussion facilitated by the presenting group. Furthermore, there will be two assignments (analytical essays) throughout the semester which will also be peer-reviewed. The exam will be a final term paper where you will use the skills learned in class to contrast and compare one of our major works with work/theme/topic of your choosing.

SCHEDULE OF TOPICS AND CLASSES (subject to change)

There will always be secondary reading, but this will be posted directly on Canvas rather than written into this syllabus.

Week 1

Tuesday, May 17: Introduction

For this class, we’ll go over the syllabus and whatever questions you may have regarding the course, grading, exams etc. We’ll continue the introduction with a discussion about/reflection on what Scandinavian studies actually is and can be and finishing the class with some preliminary exercises on how to read literature.

Module 1: Hans Christian Andersen The Shadow (Denmark)

Thursday, May 19

For this one-class module, we’ll be looking at Hans Christian Andersen’s The Shadow in comparison to his better known The Little Mermaid.

Reading: Andersen, H.C. (1847/1986). “The Shadow” in 80 Fairytales, Skandinavisk Bogforlag (available on Canvas)

Presentation: Group 1, Autobiographical reading

Module 2: Edith Södergran Dikter (Finland)

Week 2

Tuesday, May 24

Our second module will center around Swedish-Finnish modernist poet, Edith Södergran. We will be reading her poetry through the perspective of queer-theory and translation.
Reading:

Presentation: Group 2, Translation

Module 3: Tove Jansson, The Summer Book (Swedish-Finland)

In this module, we’ll be reading Swedish-Finnish multi-artist, Tove Jansson’s The Summer Book. For our first class we’ll be looking at stylistic and literary tools that’ll allow us to dive deeper into the interpretation in our second class.

Thursday, May 26: Narrative and narrator

Reading:

Presentation: Group 3, Metonymy and metaphor

Week 3

Tuesday, May 31: Memory and affect

Reading:

Presentation: Group 4, Discussion
Module 4: Nils-Aslak Valkeapää The Sun, My Father (Sapmi)

This module we’ll be looking at the poetry of Sami multi artist, Nils-Aslak Valkeapää, and the only official indigenous community in Europe, the Sami. We’ll be looking at how his poetry reflects Sami culture and identity and how literature can function as a tool for remembering.

Thursday, June 2: History and memory

Reading: Valkeapää, Nils-Aslak (2008). “My home is in my heart” in Alternative 4:8 (available on Canvas)

Presentation: Group 5, history and memory

Week 4

Tuesday, June 7: Identity and indigeneity

Reading: Valkeapää, Nils-Aslak (2008). “My home is in my heart” in Alternative 4:8 (available on Canvas)

Presentation: Group 6, Discussion

Module 5: Audur Ava Olafsdottir Butterflies in November (Iceland)

This work is one of our longer works, so get started with this as early as possible. Through this book we’ll try to understand the power of the first-person narrator and the connection between 18th century sublimity and contemporary Icelandic literature.

Thursday, June 9: Icelandic literature, character and narrator

Reading: Olafsdottir, Audur Ava (2014). Butterflies in November, Grove/Atlantic Incorporated*

Presentation: Group 7, Character
